Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must sustain an examination on Cæsar, Virgil, the Greek Reader, parts I and II, Adams' Latin Grammar, Sophocles' Greck Grammar, English Grammar, Ancient and Modern Geography, Arithmetic and Algebra, as far as through simple equations.

A candidate for an advanced standing, in addition to the above studies, is examined in the various branches to which the class, he proposes to enter, has attended.

Satisfactory testimonials of good moral character are required, and those coming from other Institutions must bring certificates of regular and honorable dismissal.

An accurate and thorough acquaintance with the studies required for admission is indispensable, in order to receive the full advantage of the College course.

It is found from experience, that students imperfectly prepared for the class they enter, are embarrassed in their future progress, and are seldom able to repair the want of solid preparatory study.

Course of Instruction.

The whole course of instruction occupies four years; each year being divided into two sessions.

The classes attend three recitations or lectures a day, except on Wednesday and Saturday, when they usually have but two.

The studies of the several classes are as follows:

Preparatory Department.

The course of instruction in the Preparatory Department embraces a solid and thorough English education, whilst those who desire to prepare for business, or for College, have every advantage for the acquisition of the elements of Mathematics, and of the Latin, Greek, and German languages.

For those who propose to receive a regular Collegiate Education, the course of instruction contemplates a period of three years; but the student is taken through in a longer or shorter period, according to his attainments, abilities, and application.

The following includes the list of studies:

Reading, Writing, Orthography, and the definition of words.

English Grammar, (Parker's,) Arithmetic, oral and written, (Loomis',) Book-keeping, (Shea's,) Modern Geography, (McNally's,) Ancient Geography, (Mitchell's,) History of the United States and Great Britain, (Goodrich's Series,) Algebra, (Loomis',) Composition and Declamation, Watts on the Mind, Latin and Greek Grammar, (Adams' and Sophocles',) Latin and Greek Reader, (Jacobs' and Owen's,) Sophocles' Greek Lessons, Cæsar, Nepos, Virgil and Sallust.

Throughout the whole course the students are required to attend to English Grammar, and particular attention is paid to Orthoepy and the use of grammatical language in common conversation.

Students sufficiently advanced in this department are permitted to attend recitations with the College classes in any of the branches they require, such as Chemistry, Geometry, Surveying, Mensuration, Rhetoric, History, etc., for which no additional charge is made. The students are provided with rooms in the College building. The tuition is the same as in the College Department. Terms and vacations are also the same.

Instruction and Supervision.

The instruction is given entirely by the Professors, who have been engaged for some years in their respective departments. Lectures are also occasionally delivered by the Professors.

The discipline of the Institution is, as nearly as possible, parental. The President, under whose immediate supervision the building is placed, with the other officers, exercises a constant guardianship over the whole establishment, so that parents at a distance have all the security they may desire for the proper government of their children.

Rhetorical Exercises.

The students attend to regular exercises in composition and declamation before some one of the instructors. The Senior and Junior classes have a weekly discussion before the President of the Institution.

The German Language,

A new Professorship having been established in the College by the Synod of Pennsylvania, designed to furnish the students with facilities for acquiring a knowledge of the German language and its literature, instructions are now regularly given in this department. Those who commence the study of this language in the primary class use Eichhorn's Practical German Grammar. Heyse's German Grammar is employed in instructing the advanced class, which is principally exercised in translating from the English into German, and in the use of the German conversational language. Written exercises are prepared by the students during the whole course, and at all the recitations of the classes, opportunities are afforded for acquiring a familiarity with the German as a spoken language.

A German Literary Society exists in the College, the exercises of which, (Composition, Debates, Declamation, &c.,) resemble those of the two English Societies; the proceedings at all the regular meetings are, however, conducted in the German language.

Literary Societies.

There are two Literary Societies connected with the College, the Philomathæan and the Phrenakosmian, which exert a favorable influence on the improvement of the members. Their Halls occupy the two wings on the fourth story of the College edifice, and are furnished in a beautiful and tasteful manner. They hold their meetings every Wednesday afternoon.

Linnæan Society.

The object of this Association is to promote among its members a love of Nature, and an admiration of the works of God, by cultivating the study of the various branches of Natural Science, and an acquaintance with animated nature, by making collections of specimens in these departments, as also in that of Antiquities, natural and artificial curiosities, and the like. A Hall has been erected for the reception of the interesting and valuable collection of minerals, shells, fossils, birds, quadrupeds, reptiles, insects, coins, paintings, engravings, medals, etc., secured by the industry of the members and the liberality of friends.

Libraries and Apparatus.

The College Library, to which all the students have free access, contains many valuable works. The libraries of the two Literary Societies also comprise a large number of well selected and standard volumes, which have regularly increased by annual appropriations for that purpose. These libraries are accessible to the members of the Soeieties, upon compliance with sueh laws as the Soeieties respeetively enaet.

Examinations.

There are two publie examinations during the College year. A faithful reeord of the delinquencies of every student, of the degree of his attainment in scholarship, of his eonduet and attendanee, is kept; a eopy of whieh reeord is transmitted to parents or guardians at the elose of eaeh term.

The final examination of the Senior elass oeeurs five weeks before Commeneement.

If a student be absent for some time from the Institution, he must sustain an examination before the Faculty, upon the studies to which his class has been attending during his absence.

The "Thompson" Scholarship.

This seholarship was instituted by a benevolent gentleman of the Presbyterian chureh. It was founded by him for the purpose of giving the benefit of a Collegiate education to the most indigent and best student who shall pass through the High School of Gettysburg.

The Freshman Prize-Fund.

A friend of the College has given the sum of three hundred dollars ($300) to the Institution, for the purpose of seeuring high seholarship in the Freshman class. The interest of this fund is given at the close of the year, to the individual who shall be found, upon examination, the best in all the regular studies attended to by his class.

Benevolent gentlemen of the church are kindly requested either to increase this fund by further gifts, or to found new prize funds for the other classes.

Religious Exercises.

Devotional exercises are held in the College Chapel every morning and evening, one of the Faculty officiating, and all the students are required to be present.

The students are also required to attend public worship on the Sabbath, in the College church, unless they bring a written request from their parents or guardians, specifying the particular congregation, with which they wish to worship.

They are also required to attend a Biblical recitation on Sabbath afternoon, conducted by one of the officers of the Institution.

Expenses.

The expenses of the College, each session, exclusive of books, clothing, furniture, and travelling expenses, are as follows, viz:

FUNDS.

Parents desirous of doing so, ean entrust the management of funds for their sons to any member of the Faculty, by whom they will be applied to the purposes intended.

Situation, College Edifice, etc.

Gettysburg is in sight of the South Mountain, a branch of the Blue Ridge, in one of the most healthful districts of Pennsylvania. It is distant from Philadelphia one hundred and twenty miles; from Pittsburg one hundred and eighty; from Baltimore fifty-two; from Frederick thirty-four; from Hagerstown thirty-four; from Chambersburg twenty-five; from Harrisburg thirty-five; with all of which places the communication is frequent and easy; so that it offers peculiar facilities to persons coming from the East or West, the South, or the interior of the State. These facilities have been greatly increased by the recent completion of the Railroad, which brings us into direct communication with Philadelphia, Baltimore, Pittsburg and other prominent points.

The College edifice is a chaste specimen of the Doric order of architecture, consisting of a centre building and two wings, with end projections. The whole length is one hundred and fifty feet. The building is four stories high, with blocking course two feet and half high, resting upon a heavy cornice around the entire building. On the centre is placed an octagonal cupola, eighteen feet and a half in diameter, and twenty-four feet high, with an observatory on its top. The entire front of the centre building (forty-six feet) is occupied by a portico, consisting of four fluted columns, four feet in diameter at their bases, and twenty-two feet and a half high, resting on abutments brought up to a level with the floor on the second story. On these columns rests an appropriate entablature, together with the roof, cornice, and blocking course of the centre building. The portico projects fourteen feet from the centre building, and is made accessible on the outside by a flight of steps equal in width to its whole front. The edifice is composed of brick, and the whole exterior is painted white. The building—besides a hall of eleven feet width from front to rear, in the centre building, on the second floor, and corridors on every floor, the entire length of the building—contains seventy-five apartments or rooms, fifty-four of which are designed for the use of students. The remainder are, a College Hall (forty-two by twenty-two feet) and a Library of the same size, two rooms for the Literary Societies, each forty-three by nineteen, on the fourth story, six recitation rooms, refectory, together with the necessary apartments for the Steward and family. The building on the West is the Linnæan Hall, the upper story of which is devoted to the Museum, the lower, to the recitation rooms of the Preparatory Department.

Terms and Vacations.

The College year is divided into two terms or sessions. There are two vacations in the year, commencing on the third Thursday of April and September, each of six weeks continuance. The Spring and Fall vacations having been extended, the usual recess at Christmas, which has been attended with much loss of time and other inconveniences, is dispensed with. It is highly important that students be punctual in entering upon their duties at the commencement of each term, since an absence of a few days, at a time when a new branch of study is commenced, seldom fails to embarrass the whole course, and in some cases it is impossible to make up the loss.

Second Degree.

The second degree in the arts is conferred at the end of three years, without any additional fee, on such graduates as have been engaged in literary or professional study, and have sustained a good moral character.

Public Exercises.

The Annual Commencement takes place on the third Thursday of September. The Baccalaureate Discourse is pronounced the Sunday preceding, by the President of the Institution. On the evening of the same day, Rev. D. Steck, A. M., of Lancaster, will deliver a discourse before the Bible Society. The annual exercises of the Junior class occur on Wednesday morning; in the afternoon there will be an address before the Linnæan Association by Alfred Stille, M. D., of Philadelphia, and the Phrenakosmian Society will be addressed by Prof. Henry Coppee, of Philadelphia. The annual meeting of the Alumni is held on Wednesday evening, and an address delivered by one of its members; the duty this year devolves upon Rev. W. M. Baum, A. M., of Winchester, Va.

PENNSYLVANIA COLLEGE,

NINTH STREET, BELOW LOCUST,

Philadelphia.

SESSION OF 1859-60.

Medical Department.

The Medical Department is established in the city of Philadelphia. The College Edifice is situated on Ninth street, between Walnut and Spruce, in a central and pleasant part of the city, near the Pennsylvania Hospital. The building contains three Lecture-rooms, a spacious Museum, a Dissecting room, a Chemical Laboratory, a Registrar's office, a private room for each Professor, various ante-rooms for the students, and apartments for the Janitor. The situation of the lecture-rooms in the building precludes any annoyance from vehicles passing in the street.

The regular course of lectures for the session of 1859–60 will commence in the College building, Ninth St. below Locust, on Monday, October 10th, and will continue without intermission, until the 1st of March ensuing. For Clinical Instruction, the students of this college will have access to the courses of the Philadelphia (Blockley) and Pennsylvania Hospitals, in the former of which Professors Halsey and Meigs hold the position of clinical lecturers and consulting Surgeon and Physician. In both of these Institutions, medical and surgical cases, in great variety, are brought before the class, on Wednesdays and Saturdays throughout the session. So important is Hospital instruction deemed by the Faculty, that second course students are furnished with a ticket of admission, free of charge, to one of these institutions.

A Clinic will be held at the College every Wednesday and Saturday morning, throughout the session.

Fees.—Matriculation (paid once only),.....	$5 00
Graduation Fee,.....	30 00
Fee for each ticket,.....	15 00
